413-401 Warren Ave. (South side)

Baltimore, Md.

Private access

This group of three story, three bay wide brick houses with shed roofs and bracketed cornices (with the exception of 411 Warren Ave., which is only two stories in height, and 407 Warren Ave., which is two stories in height with a high mansard roof which serves as an attic story) were all built in the mid-1880's for fairly well-to-do local clients. The houses are quite large and commodious and face Federal Hill Park. Their size and location (with harbor views) has made them desirable for residences for some years.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This two story, three bay brick house with shed roof was built in the 1880's as part of the development of this side of Warren Ave., facing Federal Hill Park. The house originally seems to have been identical to 407 Warren Ave. (which now has an added mansard roof) but the cornice is now missing.

The house is two and a half stories in height, 15' wide, and occupies a lot 105' deep. The house is two rooms deep with a two story high, two bay deep rear addition followed by a one story high, two bay deep addition with a frame second story. The house is constructed in running bond. The shed roof currently has no cornice but it is apparent from marks in the brickwork that the cornice originally was identical to the stamped sheet metal cornice at 407 Warren Ave. This is Neo-Grec in style with a deeply projecting crown molding set above a plain freize area, with plain end brackets connecting the cornice to a lower molding strip. The upper edge of the brackets terminate in plain, rounded "anthemion." The brick freize area formed between the cornice and the lower molding strip is punctuated by three ventilating panels formed by sections of decorative, diagonally set brickwork. There is a double rectangular chimney located along the east side of the front of the house.

All of the window openings have flat stone lintels and stone sills. All of the windows are filled with 1/1 double hung sash. The doorway has an unusual lintel treatment that was once identical to that at 407 Warren Ave., but the latter has been altered. The segmentally arched brick lintel springs from square, brick "ears," formed by a row of slightly projecting stretchers, with brick "dentils" along the lower edge. The arched lintel has a marble keystone. A late Victorian glass and panel door is set beneath the arched single light transom. Although the transom area does not have a scroll-sawed tympanum as at 407 and 409 Warren Ave., it is bordered by the same row of quarter-round carvings and cut-work scallops. The house sits on a high basement, the entrance being reached by three marble steps. There are two rectangular basement windows located beneath the first floor windows.
